Statement of Work
Colorado State University System

1. Graduate and Other Educational Services

The General Assembly has found that some services which are offered by institutions of higher education support undergraduate and graduate services and are not part of the College Opportunity Fund stipend program. Instead, the General Assembly has determined that it is in the best interests of the state of Colorado for the Department to purchase the selected educational services for the benefit of students. In accordance with 23-1-109.7, Colorado Revised Statutes (C.R.S.) these services may include, but need not be limited to:

(a) Educational services in rural areas or communities in which the cost of delivering the educational services are not sustained by the amount received in student tuition;

(b) to (d) repealed;

(e) Educational services required of the commission to meet its obligations under reciprocal agreements pursuant to section 23-1-112;

(f) Graduate school services;

(g) Educational services that may increase economic development opportunities in the state, including courses to assist students in career development and retraining; and

(h) Specialized educational services and professional degrees, including but not limited to the areas of dentistry, medicine, veterinary medicine, nursing, law, forestry, and engineering.

Graduate Services

In order to purchase graduate services the Department, in conjunction with the System, has developed a cost model that identifies expenses incurred by the System in educating undergraduate and graduate students. Based upon this cost information, the Department shall purchase services on a per credit hour basis. The per credit hour basis is a common method of determining costs and is easily identifiable and auditable under this contract. Such services are purchased in order to provide degrees in various fields of study.

Each degree is designed to provide a specific field of knowledge to students that benefit the educational mission of the student and the state. A highly educated workforce attracts businesses and people to the state and helps create a diverse and robust economy. Further, these services allow citizens the opportunity to improve their educational knowledge and career opportunities by learning new skills.

The Department finds that people who are highly trained and specialized in a field of study are more easily employed and desirable in the workplace, the Department therefore finds that the purchase of these services benefits all citizens and ensures the economic vitality of the state.

The System shall provide graduate and other specialized educational services to the Department which are consistent with its statutory role and mission. The Department on a credit hour cost basis shall purchase these services. The Institution shall ensure that any graduate, high cost undergraduate, or other specialized educational service purchased by the Department on a per credit hour basis will benefit all students for which the service is being purchased.

Other educational services shall be purchased in accordance with Title 23, Article 1, Section 109.7, Colorado Revised Statutes. Specifically, the following services shall be purchased:

Specialized and High Cost Educational Services

The Department recognizes that certain courses and degrees have a higher cost to the System to provide to students than others offered by the System. The Department finds that many of these "high cost" programs and degrees benefit the state through increased knowledge and support for the businesses located here. Some of these courses and degrees are offered at the undergraduate level and provide needed services. These courses and degrees include: Agriculture and Landscape Architecture, Biological Sciences, , Computer and Information Systems, Education, Engineering and related technologies, Mathematics, Natural Resources, Nursing, Physical and Biological Sciences, Psychology, Teacher Education, Visual and Performing Arts, Business Courses, Health Professions and Related Sciences (Food Science and Human Nutrition; Exercise and Sports Science; Human Development; Social Work; Environmental Health; Music Therapy; and Dance Therapy).

Further, the Department shall purchase specialized educational services for the area of engineering services and related undergraduate programs in the math and sciences. Such programs have a higher cost than many undergraduate programs because of smaller class sizes, more intensive instruction requirements, and additional costs associated with education labs where supplies are expensive and constantly required.

Professional Degrees

The Department recognizes that the System runs an excellent veterinary teaching hospital for animal care. The benefits of this hospital and teaching facility to the state are numerous including state of the art animal health care, innovative research, and economic development opportunities from the transfer of technology. In order to continue the benefits of this program for the state, the Department shall purchase, on a per credit hour basis, professional services from the hospital.

Reciprocal Agreements

In accordance with 23-1-112, Colorado Revised Statutes, the Department "shall identify those circumstances where the waiving of the non-resident differential in tuition rates, on a reciprocal basis with other states, would enhance educational opportunities for Colorado residents." The Department shall purchase services from the Institution in order to ensure the availability of these services in accordance with Colorado Commission on Higher Education policy authorizing this service. The purpose for purchasing such services shall be to ensure educational opportunities for Colorado residents in other states in order that they have access to unique programs and offerings at institutions outside of Colorado.

Career Development, Retraining and Customized Job Training

The Department shall purchase career development, and retraining services that include customized job training programs designed to improve the educational competency of employees. The purpose for purchasing such services is to aid in providing a workforce that possesses the skill set necessary to meet the employment demands of private, state and local businesses. Failure to deliver such programs could result in increased unemployment rates and the outward migration of business that will leave the state to find the skilled work force it needs to sustain its business.

Cooperative Extension Services, Agricultural Experiment Services, and Forestry

The Department shall purchase services in forestry, cooperative extension services, and agricultural research. Specifically, the Department shall purchase services in the Cooperative Extension program that provides staff throughout the state to interact with local communities and provide information on topics developed by higher education professionals. Such topics include, but are not limited to, agriculture, and family/consumer issues, horticulture, natural resources, and nutrition resources. Further, the Department shall purchase services in experimental agriculture research that shall include, but not be limited to disciplinary and interdisciplinary research in the following areas:

- environmental quality - the interaction of agricultural and natural resource systems;
- improvement of plant and animal resources;
- integrated agricultural systems;
- alternative uses for agricultural commodities;
- food quality and safety; and
- enhancing agricultural and rural economies.

Such services shall be purchased for the benefit of citizens to ensure access to a large and diverse informational base of knowledge that supports the improvement of business and citizen's daily lives in the state.

The Department shall also purchase services for forestry related issues that provide for natural resource protection in mountains, plains, and urban settings from damaging effects of fire, insects, disease, wind, water, and people. The purchase of such services is for the improvement of Colorado's renewable natural resource base while being sensitive to future needs. In addition, the purchase of these services enhances public understanding of forestry's role and value in a healthy environment. The purpose of purchasing such services shall be to protect the natural environment of the state for the enjoyment and educational benefit of citizens. The System shall provide an annual report produced by each of the agencies which clearly demonstrates that the services purchased herein were provided as required by this contract. The Department may audit such services periodically to ensure service was provided to the specified minimum number of citizens.
