Tuition varies by program and course of study

Notes: Tuition is a single factor within overall Cost of Attendance; the figures listed here do not include any fees or living expenses (e.g. room and board). Institutions marked with an asterisk (*) calculate tuition based on field of study using tuition differentials. For the most detailed and updated information regarding tuition rates and fees, please visit each institution's website.

¹Univeristy of Colorado Boulder: The increased tuition rate is guaranteed for four years and includes mandatory fees.

²University of Colorado Denver: The tuition increase is only for lower division students.

³ CSU Pueblo: Reflects the closing of the tuition window. Prior to 2016-17, student tuition did not increase in the range from 12-18 credits per semester; beginning in 2016-17, this is changed to a linear structure in which student would pay the same amount per credit hour.
