

CHRISTINE M. SCANLAN

President and CEO, The Keystone Center, cscanlan@keystone.org, 970-513-5841

As President and CEO, Christine is responsible for the overall management and policy work of The Keystone Center. Her primary responsibilities include developing new work, fundraising, and working with the Senior Management team and Board of Trustees in the overall management of the organization. Ms. Scanlan is a well-respected leader in education policy and a seasoned facilitator with a vast amount of public policy experience, both statewide and nationally.

---

LOREZ MEINHOLD

Senior Associate, The Keystone Center, lmeinhold@keystone.org, 720-971-7912

Lorez brings over fourteen years of health care policy experience as a director of multi-lateral initiatives involving the public, private and civic sectors, working at the local, state, and national levels. Lorez has worked in many capacities implementing and integrating health programs such as health care reform, access to health care, and delivery system reform. Prior to joining The Keystone Center, Lorez has worked for two administrations in Colorado, in the Department of Health Care Policy and Financing, and for non-profit organizations.

---

BRENDA MORRISON

Partner, Engaged Public, brenda@engagedpublic.com, 303-282-9250

Brenda brings extensive experience in public policy development, non-profit management, leadership development, and public engagement strategies. She spent a decade in the non-profit sector with youth-oriented and community development organizations and then served for seven years as the Associate Director of the Bighorn Center for Public Policy. Brenda has published several articles on topics that demonstrate the intersection of Colorado history and public policy. Brenda has either been the architect or directly involved with several of the state's largest public engagement campaigns on critical public policy issues. She is a graduate of the University of Colorado and the University of Denver.